

The "Man's Store." Official Weather Report—Fair; warmer.

We Sell More Clothing for the Man

Than any other store in Washington, and there must be a reason. People do not buy clothes on sentiment—they buy here because they can buy better quality, better style, better fit, for less money than elsewhere. Every garment in this store is a special value. Just to illustrate how much you can save on any Suit or Top-coat you may select, take this $11.75 Black Thibet Sack Suit—would cost you $15 anywhere else; and here is a nobby "M. S. M." Spring Suit for $15—try to match it elsewhere at $20. And these elegant little Top-coats at $13.75—you can't find their equal anywhere under $16.50.

HONOR SCHOOL DAYS

College Women Hold Notable Banquet at Rauscher's.

CHEERS FOR THE ALMA MATER

Fully Three Hundred Women, Old and Young, from All Parts of the Country, Sing Old College Songs and Repeat Campus Yells—Toasts and Witicisms at the Banquet Table.

School days, school days, Dear old golden rule days; Reading and writing and rhyming; Taught to the tune of a hickory stick. She was my queen in college. I was her faithful barfoot bean; She wrote on my state, "I love you, Joe," When we were a couple of kids.

College songs, college yells, and cheers from alumni of Vassar, Wesleyan, Bryn Mawr, and many other Adamesian institutions of learning were given with a vigor last night at Rauscher's, where the College Women's Club of Washington held its second annual banquet.

Fully 300 women enjoyed the banquet and the after-dinner speeches arranged by the committee. In the gathering were representative women of the city, country, and world. The lofty graduate of 1907, with the alumnus who went forth from her alma mater many years ago and has since held the proposition of reforming the world and other questions to the younger graduates, sat side by side in the brilliantly lighted banquet hall.

Forget Difference in Years. But differences in years between the graduates of 1890 and the young women who quit their college in June, 1907, were forgotten. They were all "old grads" last night. All gave their songs, cheers, and yells with a vigor that denoted powerful lungs.

Among the representative women present were Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks, Miss Alice Eastwood, curator of botany, California Academy of Science; Dr. Ludlow, famed as an entomologist; Mrs. Lenox, from Queen's College, London; and Mrs. John Sharp Williams. Other well-known college women were also seated at the tables.

That a woman is capable of doing two things at the same time was aptly illustrated. Speeches were given by the guests and members of the club while the dinner was in progress.

Mrs. L. W. Busbey, A. B., toastmistress, introduced as the first speaker Miss Seavast N. Callaghan, Ph. D., inspector of schools in Athens, Greece. Miss Callaghan spoke interestingly and learnedly of the life of the Grecian girl, and the lack of opportunities for bettering herself, intellectually. Compared with the chances of the American young woman, the Grecian girl has few opportunities for educating herself, according to Miss Callaghan.

Address by Mrs. Gerry. "The typewriter and the feminine" were cleverly handled by Mrs. Philip Gerry, author of "The Toy Shop." Mrs. Gerry proved by her witticisms that it takes a woman to handle one of the gentlest sex. Mrs. Gerry's subject had the suggestive title, "Beware of the fury of a patient man."

"Boys always do such nice, splendid things, but girls can only do the nasty, dull ones that get left over," said Mrs. Abby G. Baker in her talk on the "College women in civic betterment." Mrs. Baker urged the American women to use the culture and executive ability which is conceded them for civic and charitable work.

The concluding toast was by Miss Ruth Putnam, B. L., who said that after the young women have received their degrees and go forth into the world, "they are masters of their fate." Between the speeches and the courses of the dinner, college yells, cheers, and songs were given. Lasty cheers were given for the different "brevets," of whom many a story was told by the banqueters.

With the disposing of the dinner and the toasts, the "piece de resistance" was given by Miss Grace Ross, and Miss M. Elsie Turner, Columbian College of George Washington University. They depicted "Juliet and Ophelia—1908." The sketch was up-to-date, the dialogue bright and breezy, and the young women were rewarded with the familiar "G-o-o-r-g-e W-a-s-h-i-n-g-t-o-n" when the last line was read.

Following several impromptu sketches by the members of the club, a social hour was spent in reviewing bygone days. After "Billy Magee" began, there has been a long and a little seen home, despite the absence of the masculine element, the meeting ended with "Auld Lang Syne."

It was the second annual meeting of the club, and was a success. The members proving that the "Adamesian Eden" can exist, at least temporarily.

The Executive Committee. The executive committee, to whom the success of the event is chiefly due, has the following membership: Mrs. T. W. Sidwell, Vassar, president; Miss Emma Harper Turner, Franklin College, Washington, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Karl F. Kellerman, Cornell, recording secretary, and the following presidents of college clubs in Washington.

Mrs. Julia Bodfish, Mount Holyoke; Mrs. T. Janney Brown, representing Swarthmore; Miss Alice Coyle, Radcliffe; Mrs. W. F. de Caudry, Vassar Students' Aid; Mrs. W. H. Heywood, Columbian Women's Association; Mrs. W. E. Sanford, Wellesley; Miss Edna Stone, Woman's College of Baltimore; Mrs. M. J. Rosenau, Bryn Mawr; Mrs. O. L. Veerhoff, secretary, Lake Erie; and Mrs. Frank B. Vrooman, representing Stanford University.

GOES BEFORE PUBLIC

Dr. Chancellor Now Lecturer and Text-book Writer.

SERVICES IN GREAT DEMAND

Talks on Educational Subjects Two Days of Each Week at Johns Hopkins and George Washington Universities—Finds It More Remunerative Than Being Head of Schools.

Dr. William Estlinbrook Chancellor, former superintendent of schools in the District, is on the lecture platform, and is writing text-books, practical and theoretical.

Although a resident of the District, Dr. Chancellor is away from Washington frequently. Yesterday morning he delivered his weekly lecture at Johns Hopkins University on "The history of educational theory." Thursday and Friday of each week he lectures on education at George Washington University.

"Dr. Chancellor has forsaken the school room for the lecture platform," said Mrs. Chancellor yesterday at the Chancellor home, 3337 Brightwood avenue. "He finds it more remunerative and less exacting, and will hereafter devote his time to this work."

Is Also Writing Books. Mrs. Chancellor also said that her husband was spending some of his time in writing text-books. He has recently published a book, entitled "The Theory of Motives, Ideals, and Values in Education." Another book, not yet off the press, is "Our City Schools; Their Management and Supervision."

Other books by Dr. Chancellor are on spelling, arithmetic, history, government, and word lists. Besides being a lecturer at Johns Hopkins and George Washington universities, Dr. Chancellor is a member of the Chicago University faculty.

As a lecturer, he has become well known. He has appeared in thirty-seven States, and his subjects have been varied. One, "Our fascinating venture, the Republic of the greatest democracy in the world," is governed in violation of every lesson of self-government, and of every American political principle. He depicts Congress as a legislative Niagara, and the District as the whirlpool at its foot.

Expresses His Opinion. Another of Dr. Chancellor's lectures, "Sunrise," gives opportunity for him to express the opinion that modern scientific discoveries are transforming for the better the life of the individual, and changing the structure of society.

In his lecture on "Christ vs. Christianity," Dr. Chancellor expresses the opinion that it might be well worth trying to put in operation the teachings of Christ before calling Christianity a failure.

In his work at the universities and his lectures, Dr. Chancellor is a busy man.

INCUBATOR BABY DEAD.

Daughter of Representative and Mrs. French to Rest in Receiving Vault. Funeral services for little Miss Winifred French, the three-months-old daughter of Representative and Mrs. French, of Idaho, who died Friday, will be held at the family home at Moscow, Idaho, immediately after the adjournment of Congress. The body will remain in a receiving vault until then.

The baby was born in January, and weighed but three pounds. She was placed in an incubator to save her life, and for three months she thrived. Then fatal stomach trouble developed.

Duke Demands Heavy Damages. Joseph C. Duke yesterday filed suit to recover from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad $20,000 damages for personal injuries, which, it is alleged, he received while a passenger on a train coming from Cumberland to Washington on December 2 last. According to the declaration the train on which Mr. Duke was riding was run into by a freight train, the collision being due to the negligence of employees of the company.

President's Poetic Rival in Asylum. After regaling Justice Barnard's court with a varied selection of poetry yesterday, Thomas Johnson, late of Virginia, who proclaimed himself the champion poet of the world, was adjudged weak-minded and sent to the Government Hospital for treatment. Johnson first became prominent when he challenged President Roosevelt to a match to decide who was champion poet of the world.

Negro Who Escaped Is Sentenced. Adjudged guilty of two cases of petit larceny by Judge Kimball, in the Police Court, yesterday, Robert Anderson, the negro who escaped from the Fourth precinct station Thursday night, was sentenced to jail for thirty days in default of $10 fine.

ANNUAL DANCING CARNIVAL.

Miss Hawke and Pupils to Give "Little Red Riding Hood."

Miss Hawke will give her annual spring dancing carnival for the benefit of the Episcopal Home for Children, formerly Bell House, on the afternoon and night of Wednesday, April 2.

The beautiful fairy play, "Little Red Riding Hood," introducing fancy and character dancing, will be given at the matinee, and the dancing carnival at night. Both productions will be elaborately staged and costumed. Ensemble and solo dances will be artistically arranged. A number of the boxes and tickets have already been taken by prominent society people, and a list of patronesses will be given later. This home is under the auspices of the Episcopal Church, but gladly welcomes little children of all denominations. On account of the overcrowded conditions of the home, it is unable to accommodate all who make application, therefore larger quarters are necessary, and it is hoped the public generally will co-operate and help this most worthy cause.

SUED BY WOUNDED NEGRO.

Lundy Demands $20,000 from Representative Hefflin.

Representative J. Thomas Hefflin was yesterday sued for $20,000 damages by Lewis Lundy, the negro, who was ejected from a car a week ago yesterday and shot by Mr. Hefflin.

The declaration filed by Attorneys John H. Wilson, L. Melendez King, Royal A. Hughes, and Augustus Gray, declares Lundy was "bruised, wounded, and ill-treated," and that Mr. Hefflin, "with great force and violence, kicked plaintiff and slapped him in the face, and then and there, with great force and violence, threw him off the car."

It is also charged that the Congressman shot Lundy with a pistol, inflicting a wound on his head. The injuries received by Lundy, it is claimed, have hindered and prevented him from performing his necessary affairs and business.

ELECTROCUTION IS APPROVED.

Commissioner Macfarland Makes a Favorable Report on House Bill.

Favorable report on the House of Representatives bill prescribing the mode of executing the death sentence within the District of Columbia, was made yesterday by Commissioner Macfarland.

The bill was introduced by Representative Taylor, of Ohio. It prescribes "that any person adjudged to suffer death in the District must, in every case, be executed by causing to pass through the body a current of electricity of sufficient intensity to cause death."

It is further stated that such punishment shall only be inflicted within the walls of the District jail, within an enclosure to be prepared for that purpose under the direction of the warden. The enclosure shall be so constructed as to exclude public view.

This act shall take effect and be in force after July 1, and shall apply to all convictions for crimes punishable by death committed on or after that date.

Approve Proposed School Building.

Approval of the recommendation of the board of education to provide for the erection of a four-room building to replace the Potomac School building has been given by the Commissioners.

The school board asks that a site of approximately 25,000 square feet be purchased, and places the estimate for the building at $32,000. The draft will be forwarded to Congress by the Commissioners as an addition to the estimates for 1909.

Two Cabs and No Taximeters.

Acting on the suggestion of Capt. Williams, of the First precinct, that two cabs be permitted to stand on the north side of the triangle at Market Space, instead of establishing a taximeter cab stand in Eighth street, between Pennsylvania avenue and D street, as requested by Mr. Kann, the Commissioners will amend the police regulations to conform with the new plan.

Gives the Passion Play.

F. C. Matten, who has opened a 10-cent theater at 1008 Fourteenth street northwest, called The Amusement, offers to the public the Passion Play until next Wednesday night. Mr. Matten intends to have traveltogs and moving pictures which will interest the children.

Workhouse for Cocaine Seller.

Morris Chambers, a negro, was adjudged guilty of selling cocaine on the streets and was fined $200 by Judge Mulowny, in the Police Court, yesterday. In default of the fine he went to the workhouse for twelve months.
